Capital: Topeka Time: GMT – 6

Background: Kansas entered the Union on January 29, 1861, as the 34th state. Traditionally known as an agricultural state, Kansas had, by the 1990s, a well-diversified economy, dominated by service industries and manufacturing. It remains, nonetheless, one of the leading agricultural states of the United States. The name of the state is taken from the Kansas River, which was named after the Kansa, a Sioux tribe. Kansas is known as the "Sunflower State". Its major cities are Topeka (the capital), Wichita, Kansas City, Overland Park, and Lawrence.

Population: According to the 1990 census, Kansas had 2,477,574 inhabitants, an increase of 4.8 per cent over 1980. The estimated population for 1997 was 2,594,840. The average population density in 1990 was 12 people per sq km (30 per sq mi). The eastern part of the state, however, had a considerably higher population density than the west, where in most areas there were fewer than 4 people per sq km (10 per sq mi). Whites made up 90.1 per cent of the population and blacks 5.8 per cent; additional population groups included 21,767 Native Americans, 6,577 people of Vietnamese background, 5,330 people of Chinese descent, 4,016 people of Korean ancestry, and 3,956 people of Asian Indian origin. Approximately 93,700 people were of Latino origin.

Location: Kansas (state), one of the Midwestern states of the United States, bounded on the north by Nebraska; on the east by Missouri; on the south by Oklahoma; and on the west by Colorado. The Missouri River forms the north-eastern boundary. The state is situated at the geographical centre of the 48 conterminous states.

Area: Kansas has an area of 213,110 sq km (82,282 sq mi); 1.3 per cent of the land area is owned by the federal government. The state is approximately rectangular in shape, and its extreme dimensions are 335 km (208 mi) from north to south and 661 km (411 mi) from east to west. Elevations range from a low point of 207 m (680 ft) on the Verdigris River in the south-east to a high point of 1,231 m (4,039 ft) at the top of Mount Sunflower near the Colorado border. The approximate mean elevation is 610 m (2,000 ft).

Industries: The state's most important mineral resources are oil, natural gas, coal, salt, sand, and gravel. Kansas is a leading wheat-producing state and is a major producer of corn, alfalfa, and sorghum. Other crops include soya beans, rye, oats, barley, and sunflowers. There is also some dairy, poultry, and pig farming. Forestlands are limited, and the annual income from forestry is small. Some oak, walnut, and hickory is sawn for timber and for the manufacture of furniture. Leading manufacturing industries include transport equipment (primarily aircraft), industrial machinery, processed foods, oil refining, printed materials, chemicals, rubber, and plastic products.
