Capital: Jefferson City Time: GMT - 6

Background: Missouri entered the Union on August 10, 1821, as the 24th state. Although it was a slaveholding state, it remained part of the Union during the American Civil War. Traditionally dependent on agriculture, Missouri's economy in the 1990s was dominated by service industries and manufacturing, especially of aircraft and motor vehicles. President Harry S. Truman was born in Missouri. The name of the state is taken from the Missouri River and is an Algonquin name for a group that lived near the mouth of the river. Missouri is known as the "Show-Me State". Its major cities are Jefferson City (the capital), Kansas City, St Louis, Springfield, Independence, and St Joseph.

Population: According to the 1990 census, Missouri had 5,117,073 inhabitants, an increase of 4.1 per cent over 1980. The population estimate for 1997 was 5,402,058. The average population density was 28 people per sq km (73 per sq mi) in 1990. The population density was lightest in the rugged central portion of the Ozark Plateau and in the rolling farmlands of the north. Whites made up 87.7 per cent of the population and blacks 10.7 per cent; additional population groups included some 19,508 Native Americans, 8,614 people of Chinese ancestry, 6,111 people of Asian Indian background, 5,731 people of Korean origin, 56,24 people of Filipino extraction, and 4,380 people of Vietnamese descent. Approximately 61,700 people were of Latino background.

Location: Missouri (state), one of the Midwestern states, bordered on the north by Iowa; on the east by Illinois, Kentucky, and Tennessee; on the south by Arkansas; and on the west by Oklahoma, Kansas, and Nebraska. The Mississippi River forms most of the eastern boundary, and the Missouri River forms the north-western boundary.

Area: Missouri has an area of 180,545 sq km (69,709 sq mi); 4.6 per cent of the land area is owned by the federal government. The state's extreme dimensions are 513 km (319 mi) from north to south and about 587 km (365 mi) from east to west. Elevations range from 70 m (230 ft) along the St Francis River in the south-east to 540 m (1,772 ft) from the top of Taum Sauk Mountain less than 160 km (100 mi) to the north. The approximate mean elevation is 244 m (800 ft).

Industries: Mining accounts for less than 1 per cent of the annual gross state product. There are significant reserves of coal, though it is of relatively low quality. Other important minerals are lead, zinc, iron ore, limestone, marble, granite, clay, sand and gravel, barite, copper, oil, and silver.

Farming accounts for about 2 per cent of the annual gross state product. Missouri is a leading state in the raising of beef cattle and dairy cows; sheep, pigs, and poultry are other important livestock. Principal crops are soya beans, corn, hay, wheat, cotton, rice, and vegetables.

Forestry is most significant in the Ozark Plateau region. Trees are primarily oak, walnut, hickory, and red cedar. Pine is a major timber product. Manufacturing accounts for approximately 23 per cent of the annual gross state product. Leading manufactured goods are transport equipment (especially cars and aerospace equipment), metals, printed materials, processed foods, and chemicals.

Ports and Harbors: 14

Airports: 5
